

Discovery Class

Rich and Joelle Dunham • Room 211

The Discovery Class follows a discussion format based on popular curriculums that are often DVD or video based. These curriculums are usually developed around books by popular Christian authors and teachers.

We determine our curriculum based on both the input and direction of the participants of the class and usually begin a new program every six - twelve weeks --depending on the individual book and video programs. It's a class where people can easily jump in at mid-stream since new video segments are usually introduced every week or two. Noted authors that have formed the focus of past studies include: Bruce Wilkerson, John Ortberg, Peter Schaffer, Lee Stroble, Philip Yansey, and Max Lucado.

We also occasionally take a week or two off between major programs and do short studies related to current events or popular movies or television programs. Everyone is welcome to come and go as individual curriculums apply to their interests.